

PASCALE THEODOLY

Born in 1983

A graduate of the Duperré school for textile design and then of the School of Decorative Arts in Paris for object design in 2007, she wants to know how to manufacture what she designs. She was trained in cabinetmaking both at school and at the Hubert Weinzierl workshop in 2008. She set up her carpentry workshop in Paris and since 2009 has been responding to requests for custom fittings and furniture for individuals. The relationship of the body to its domestic environment and use materials sparingly are at the heart of her work.

SUPPORT 68

SUPPORT 68 is part of the series SUPPORT, small scale furniture constructed since 2013, to utilize the scraps of my workshop. SUPPORTS are all different yet built with the same process. They were not drawn, only the height was chosen. The other proportions were determined by the size of the odds and ends. Two strips are cut in three lengths to make two legs and a crosspiece. The different parts are joined by a central piece which widens and stabilizes the whole. Each form which is born from this simple process is surprising by its proportions and the plastic quality of the material. SUPPORTS are multifunctional.

SUPPORT 68 is built with a remnant of a kitchen countertop.
